THE COLLEGE PARK CAMPUS AND THE UNIVERSITY

THE STUDENTS

College Park is dedicated to young people. The Campus gives each student, to the extent that he wants to accept it, the chance to encounter new persons, new ideas and new interests, all of which he could hardly find elsewhere in such variety. The student may discover ancient Greece and Rome for the first time; he may try his hand at art; or he may use a computer to help design a better environment for man.

But whatever he investigates, whether it is under a microscope, or out in space or within the human mind, his experiences sharpen his vision and improve his judgment. He learns in and out of class, by relating to many people his own age and by dealing with a cultured faculty. He is able, in these many ways, to better define his directions and his goals.

THE FACULTY

Men of varied personalities and interests instruct our students, men whose work ranges from the study of physical forces to the study of man in all his complexities. One professor studies properties more fundamental than the atom; another measures laser distances to the moon with an accuracy of inches; another simulates a computerized "electric avalanche" to study the effects of lightning; another leads students to excavate the ruins of Pompeii; while still another visits Maryland's marshes to better understand and ultimately preserve for all of us one of Maryland's particular treasures, the Chesapeake Bay.

One way to describe this Campus is through a discussion of its students and faculty. But other points of view are interesting too.

THE CAMPUS

Located just nine miles from the National's Capitol, the College Park Campus is among the largest university campuses in the country in terms of total enrollment. It is situated on 1,300 acres and has an annual budget over $100 million. Last year more than $2.5 million in scholarship aid assisted almost 5,500 students on the College Park Campus. Over 7,000 degrees were conferred.

More than 35,000 students are enrolled at College Park and 25,500 are enrolled in the fiscally self-sustaining programs. The teaching and research staff includes more than 3,000 full-time and part-time personnel.

Undergraduates may major in 71 programs; graduate students may major in 61 graduate programs leading to advanced degrees. In the number of doctorates granted annually, the University ranks among the top 30 institutions in the nation.

HISTORY

The University had its beginnings in 1807 with the establishment in Baltimore of the College of Medicine, an entirely faculty-owned institution granting the M.D. degree. When its name was changed to the University of Maryland five years later, it was given power to confer additional degrees. The first dental school in America, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, became a part of the University in 1840. Subsequently, the University opened schools of pharmacy, law and nursing.

Under a charter secured by a group of Maryland planters, the College Park Campus of the University, then called the Maryland Agricultural College, opened in 1859 and became one of the original land-grant schools in 1865. After a disastrous fire in 1912, the State acquired control of the College and bore the cost of rebuilding. In 1920 the State took over the faculty-owned University in Baltimore, merging it with the State-owned institution at College Park to form the present day University of Maryland.

In 1886 the Delaware Conference Academy was founded by the Methodist Church in Princess Anne, Maryland. The State acquired this institution in 1926, making it a division of the University of Maryland in 1948.

It was made a Campus of the University system in 1970 as the University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES). A new Campus known as University of Maryland Baltimore County (UMBC) was opened at Catonsville in 1966.

RESEARCH FACILITIES

The University has developed outstanding opportunities for research in the biological, physical and social sciences. Among the exceptional research facilities are: the 140 MeV cyclotron; two Van de Graff accelerators; an assortment of computers; the nuclear reactor; a full-scale low velocity wind tunnel, and several small hypersonic helium wind tunnels; the center for materials research; the psychopharmacology laboratory; the quiescent plasma device (Q machine) for plasma research; rotating tanks for laboratory studies of meteorological phenomena; the laboratory for basic behavioral research; and the astronomy observatory.

In Clark Lake, California, the University owns one of the largest radio telescopes in the world operating in the short wave band. In addition, the University is a member of the initial group of universities incorporated to manage the world's largest proton synchrotron, located at Batavia, Illinois.

LIBRARIES

University libraries include approximately 1,250,000 volumes on the College Park Campus, 10,000 subscriptions to periodicals and newspapers, plus over half a million microform units, slides, film strips, prints, music scores, and recordings. The new $7 million Undergraduate Library has a seating capacity of 4,000 students and is among the nation's largest. The library features a recreational reading collection of 5,000 paperbacks, a quadrophonic concert room, color video tape players and playback units, enclosed rooms equipped with instructor's consoles for the study of nonprint media materials, and wireless stereo headsets for tapes of lectures, plays, speeches, and music.

ACADEMIC REORGANIZATION

The programs offered on the College Park Campus are distinguished not simply because of their variety, but also because of their organization. The Campus has undergone a thorough reorganization, the result of years of study, and has an enlightened and flexible structure more responsive in certain ways to the student's needs than before. The new divisions, the relationship of the schools, colleges, departments, programs, and institutes are complemented by new and open methods of taking a degree. The comprehensiveness of the plan and its responsiveness to students are its chief characteristics.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

The black caps and gowns worn by the students and faculty in the academic procession are of ancient origin. They have been the traditional costume of the scholar since medieval times and probably represent an adaptation of the ecclesiastical dress since many of the scholars of that period were members of monastic orders.

An intercollegiate commission in 1893 drafted a uniform code for costumes which has since been adopted by the majority of colleges and universities in the United States.

Each of the three academic degrees—bachelor, master, and doctor—has its own distinctive gown and hood. The bachelor's gown is distinguished by its long pointed sleeve. The master's gown has a longer, narrow, closed sleeve, extending below the knee; the arm is passed through a slit at the elbow. In contrast the doctor's gown has a full bell-shaped sleeve with three bars of velvet. The opening of this gown is faced with wide velvet bands. The velvet trim may be black or of a color indicating the general field of learning of the wearer, for example, blue for philosophy, green for medicine, purple for law.

The most colorful and distinctive item of the academic costume is the hood which passes around the neck and extends down the back. The doctor's is the largest of the hoods and the bachelor's the smallest. The bachelor's hood is often omitted. The color of the velvet edging indicates the field of learning. Below is given a list of department or faculty colors.

The colors of the silk lining exposed in the center of the hood are those of the college or university which conferred the degree.

The cap or "mortar board" is uniform in design for all degrees. The tassel may be either black or the color of the field of learning. The tassel of the doctor's cap may be gold.

Certain institutions in this country and abroad have academic costumes of distinctive color and design.

ACADEMIC DEGREES

A degree is awarded for the successful completion of a course of study. There are more than 1,600 different academic degrees currently conferred by American colleges and universities.

The first known degree was a doctorate conferred by the University of Bologna in the middle of the 12th Century. Originally, the doctor's and master's degrees were used interchangeably, each indicating that the holder was qualified to give instruction to students. The bachelor's or baccalaureate degree indicated only entrance upon a course of study preparatory to the doctorate or mastership. Gradually, however, the bachelor's degree came to mean successful completion of one level of study preparatory to the higher degrees.

From Europe the use of academic degrees spread to English universities. Harvard University, William and Mary, and Yale followed the British pattern in the United States.

THE DOCTOR'S DEGREE

This is a term meaning teacher, or instructor, applied by ancient Romans to those who delivered public lectures on philosophical subjects. In the Middle Ages, from the 12th century, it came into use as a title of honor borne by men of great learning. It was first made an academic title at the University of Bologna, in Italy, which received from the Emperor the right of appointing doctores legum (doctor of laws). The University of Paris followed in 1145. Soon after, the popes granted the universities the right of appointing doctors canonum et decretalium (teachers of the canon law); and when the study of civil law came to be combined with that of the canon law, the title was changed to doctor utriusque juris (teacher of both laws). The faculties of theology and medicine followed that of law in conferring this title.

The doctorate in philosophy and science, and occasionally in theology and law, is given beyond the baccalaureate degree, and requires two to five years, the writing of a thesis, and the passing of written and oral examinations.

The doctor's degree represents the most advanced earned degree conferred by American institutions. There are two distinct types: the professional or practitioner's degree, and the research degree. The first type represents advanced training for the practice of various professions, principally: Doctor of Medicine, Doctor of Dental Surgery, Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, Juris Doctor and Doctor of Pharmacy. These degrees carry no implication of original research and are classified by the U.S. Office of Education, with bachelor's degrees, as the first professional degrees.

The second type of doctor's degree is classified as research doctorates representing prolonged periods of advanced study usually accompanied by a dissertation which is designed to be a substantial contribution to existing knowledge on the subject. The most important of these, the Doctor of Philosophy, no longer has an implication of philosophy for its holder, but represents advanced research in any of the major fields of knowledge. It was first awarded in the United States by Yale University in 1861.

The first Ph.D. was awarded at the University of Maryland in 1929.

THE MASTER'S DEGREE

The master's degree is an academic honor conferred upon students who have successfully completed one or two years' work in advance of the baccalaureate. A thesis and an oral examination are usually required. The word magister connected with a qualifying phrase, was used among the Romans as a title of honor; but its present meaning must be traced to the time of the establishment of the oldest universities. Regularly organized faculties were not then known as they now exist in the universities. The whole circle of academic activity was limited to seven liberal arts, and those who received public honors on the completion of their course of studies, for their diligence and knowledge, and had already received the degree of baccalaureus (bachelor) were called magistri artium (master of the liberal arts).

The first M.A. and M.S. were awarded at the University of Maryland in 1922.

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE

The bachelor's degree represents completion of a four-year course of study of collegiate grade and is the oldest academic degree used by American institutions of higher learning. The degree Bachelor of Arts was first conferred in America in 1642 on the first nine graduates of Harvard College.

The degree Bachelor of Science, was awarded to the first four graduates of Harvard University in 1851.

IRMGARD FLÜGGE-LOTZ HONORARY DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Irmgard Flügge-Lotz is both an outstanding woman and an internationally known engineer.

Born in Hannover, Germany, she attended the Technical University in that city graduating with the degree of Diplom Ingenieur in 1927. She became an assistant in Applied Mechanics and received the degree of Doctor of Engineering in 1929.

She was with the Aerodynamics Research Institute in Göttingen from 1929 to 1938, advancing from research scientist to Head of the Department of Theoretical Aerodynamics. From 1939 to 1945, she was a consultant on aerodynamics and the dynamics of flight for the DVL (German Aeronautical Research Establishment). She served as Chief of a Research Group in Theoretical Aerodynamics at ONERA (the French NASA) in Paris during 1947 and 1948. Since 1949, Dr. Flügge-Lotz has been at Stanford University, where she was appointed Professor of Aeronautical Engineering and Engineering Mechanics in 1960.

Dr. Flügge-Lotz was awarded the title of Professor Emerita in 1968 and is the author of two books, Discontinuous Automatic Control, one of the most valued engineering texts in use in the world today, and Discontinuous and Optimal Control, and of about fifty technical papers. She is a Fellow of the AIAA, a Member of Sigma Xi, and recipient of the 1970 Achievement Award from the Society of Women Engineers. Her particular fields of specialization are theoretical aerodynamics and automatic control.

The value of the contributions of Dr. Flügge-Lotz to basic research in the aircraft industry as it developed in Europe, America and Asia is equalled only by the affection and esteem in which she is held by the generations of scientists whom she trained.

The public, too, the beneficiary of her work, owes her gratitude as one of those responsible for the growth and importance of the aircraft industry on which our economies and pleasures often depend.

Dr. Irmgard Flügge-Lotz is awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from the University of Maryland.

HOWARD K. SMITH HONORARY DOCTOR OF LAWS

Co-anchorman of the ABC Evening News since May 19, 1969, Howard K. Smith is one of broadcasting's most knowledgeable and honored news commentators. Since joining ABC News in 1961, he has reported on most of the important news events of the past decade for both the ABC television and radio networks.

A Rhodes Scholar and graduate of Tulane University (1936), Smith also studied briefly at Heidelberg University, where he began what was to later become an intensive study of Nazism. He is the author of three books, Last Train from Berlin, The State of Europe, and Washington, D.C.

In May, 1972, Smith accompanied President Nixon on his summit meeting with Soviet leaders in Moscow as chief of the ABC News team.

In 1960, Smith moderated the first television debate between then Presidential candidates Kennedy and Nixon. In 1966, he visited Vietnam where he originated several programs for the highly praised series, "ABC Scope: The Vietnam War." In 1971, he was the first television news commentator to be granted an individual interview with President Nixon on live television.

Before joining ABC News, Smith was with CBS for 20 years. During most of that time he was chief European correspondent covering the major international news stories of two decades. In 1961, he was appointed chief correspondent and manager for the Washington Bureau of CBS News.

In 1944, Smith covered the Allied sweep through Belgium, Holland and Germany. He was in Marshall Zhukov's headquarters in Berlin on the day in 1945 when the Germans surrendered to the Russians. In 1946, he covered the Nuremberg War Crimes trials.

In 1939, Smith left Oxford to work for United Press in Copenhagen and then, in 1940, was sent to the United Press Bureau in Berlin. He joined CBS News as Berlin Correspondent in 1941.

Born in Ferriday, La., May 12, 1914, he is married to the former Benedicte Traberg of Copenhagen, a former Berlin correspondent for a Danish newspaper.

He is awarded the Honorary Doctor of Laws from the University of Maryland.

ACADEMIC HONORS
HONORS DESIGNATIONS

Candidates for bachelors' degree eligible to graduate "With Honors" or "With High Honors" are so indicated in the alphabetical listings by college. These persons are eligible for the appropriate designation if they have completed at least two years of resident work (60 semester hours) at the time of graduation with a scholastic average of B or higher. (Computation does not include grades for courses taken during the last semester of registration before graduation.) The candidates must also rank in the upper fifth of the graduating class in their respective colleges. "With High Honors" is awarded to the upper tenth of those in each college, if they qualify, and "With Honors" is awarded to the second tenth of those in each college, if they qualify.
